

From the Desk of the chief editor.

Dear Readers/Authors,

It is my proud privilege to present the May 2019 issue of the Multidisciplinary Journal, Pesquisa, after assuming the charge of its Editor-in-Chief in November 2015. The overwhelming appreciation and support received with the previous issues of our journal Pesquisa have made us work harder to improve the quality of this Journal and we are much happy to announce the release of the current issue of the Journal. Personally it's a matter of pride for me to work with committed and dedicated team of Editorial board members, with their continued support, I assure you for regular, timely release and improvement of Pesquisa. The regular advice and help received by National and International advisors of Pesquisa Editorial board has made my job much easier. I will not justify my words, if I fail to express my appreciation for the untiring efforts of many other academics, scientist and researchers who served as editors, reviewers, members of the Editorial Board and panel of experts of this Journal for the last more than four years, as without their support it was not possible to maintain the high scientific standards of Pesquisa.

The International Journal Pesquisa, being multi-disciplinary in approach, welcomes submissions that explore the possibility of a wide range of subjects. Appropriate submissions could include general survey research, attitudinal measures, investigations into broad societal issues, or any number of empirical approaches that fit within the general umbrella provided by the journal. Authors are invited to submit their work at any time throughout the year and should carefully review the submission criteria and requirements.

At this point of time, I assure all that I will continue with all my efforts to maintain high scientific standards of our International peer reviewed journal Pesquisa in line with the visionary ideals of its founders . Please write to me your opinion and suggestions. You may also log on to www.pesquisaonline.net, our web portal, which is loaded with plethora of information.

With Regards,
Dr. Johnson V Chief Editor
25th May 2019